Description

This beautiful late 19th-century marble top washstand in walnut showcases both elegance and functionality. It is supported by gracefully turned legs with brass casters, providing both mobility and a touch of sophistication. The washstand features a practical tray at the base, ideal for holding essential items. At the centre, two drawers are adorned with their original brass handles, offering both style and utility. The drawers have reeded fronts, adding a textured detail to the piece. Flanking the drawers are two towel rails—one on each side—adding convenience and functionality. The washstand boasts a magnificent tiled back, which complements its exquisite marble top. The walnut wood exhibits a gorgeous grain and rich colour, highlighting its exceptional quality. The piece comes apart into two sections, making it easier to transport. Overall, this washstand combines historical charm with practical features, and it remains in great condition, ready to enhance any space with its timeless beauty.
