Description

An early c.18th, oak, drop leaf gateleg dining table. This country table features a well figured, solid oak oval shaped top. Supported by substructure of turned gun barrel supports, with twin gate legs of which swing out to support the drop-leaves, supported by stretchers. Raised on turned bun feet. Single drawer in one end of the frieze with later knob handle. A charming old table, full of character, in good condition and ready for use. Dimensions: This table measures approximately 72.75 cm (28.625") tall, 153 cm (60.25") wide leaves up, 49.5 cm (19.5") wide leaves down, and 121 cm (47.75") deep. Condition: Please see the pictures for details of the items condition. - This table is in good condition, commensurate with its age, and is structurally sound and sturdy. Some age and use related marks and blemishes. No loose joints. A few historic and extinct worm holes, typical of old oak furniture, only visible in the substructure, and namely around a few of the feet. Though not affecting the structural sturdiness or the appearance. Now treated, by way of precaution. Top faded to a beautiful golden colour, attractive patina throughout, and an excellent wax polish finish....
