Description

A fine quality late Georgian period mahogany Davenport dating circa 1830. Beautifully constructed of the finest quality mahogany and flame mahogany veneers, with arched gothic recessed panels to all sides, edged with reeded quadrant moulding. The four corners with shaped columns, surmounted on reeded bun feet, with concealed brass castors. The upper slope with well executed gadrooned and carved reeded moulding, sliding forward on runners. The dark green leather writing slope top with tooled decoration to the edge. The top surmounted with the original ornate cast brass gallery. The opening top revealing a mahogany fitted interior with 2 small drawers and ivory knobs. The right hand side having 5 full width oak lined graduated drawers with wooden knobs and original locks. This is a beautiful and unique example of a Davenport in good solid original condition with lovely colour and patination ready for the home.
