Description

An early 20th century English oak easel, circa 1900-1920. An exquisitely elegant, English oak artist easel of charming design and fine quality, with a tasteful narrow form upon operating castors. The 230cm tall easel has a long and narrow, anatomical form, superbly well constructed and original, there is no makers label but has a certain Heals look and quality to it. A fine antique easel model of considerable decorative appeal, a useful and functioning easel with a ratchet system and all original parts, the central bolt needs fixing back into the section that holds the top of the canvas in place, an easy adjustment to make.
