Description

A charming antique pine bedroom unit, circa 1930, featuring two slim, full-height closets or potential hanging spaces on either side. The centre is crowned by a beveled glass door, which sits above a chest of three drawers, complete with a slide-out work surface. Each drawer is fitted with small wooden knobs. We have 8 shelves, any number of which could be used in either of the hanging spaces, and we can fit hanging rails in either (or both) as required. The shelves are mounted on supports which can slot into various heights, essentially making them adjustable. There are 2 shelves which go behind the glazed door at the top. Currently finished in wax and in excellent condition for its age, this piece requires only minimal restoration, which is included in the price. For ease of transport, the unit dismantles into sections, with the largest being the central 'box section,' measuring 62" x 24" x 22". If this fits up your stairs, you're all set for delivery. Each full-height hanging space has an internal depth of 21", offering ample room for hanging larger items like coats or suits. Dimensions: Height: 80" Width: 74" Depth: 24". Internal depth (hanging spaces): 21"
