Description

gold colour, nicely tarnished, with stamped metal plate and a metal ring for hanging. 19cm diameter. This decorative antique 'witch ball' dates from the late 19th century, and is nicely tarnished. I've done quite a bit of research into these for various magazine articles and despite the romantic stories behind them, they're actually more likely to be German 'Kugel' balls, exported from Germany to Britain in the late 19th century as Christmas decorations. I've also got a similar silver ball for sale. Please get in touch for a condition report and further info. Free shipping in the Mainland UK. Many thanks, Luke Honey.
