Description

A late 19th century marquetry inlaid writing desk of smaller proportions with a metamorphic action providing a slope to the beautifully worn leather writing surface while revealing a fitted storage area to the rear, all raised on square tapering legs terminating in original brass and ceramic castors. A lovely small wooden button to the rear lowers the desk back to its original flat position. Very good condition, structurally all sound with some attractive age related surface wear. H: 77 W: 61 D: 51 cm Height to underside: 62 cm
