Description

This is an antique morning room chair. A French, beech and textile open wing back armchair, dating to the Victorian period, circa 1850. Appealing armchair with tasteful upholstery and striking open form. Displays a desirable aged patina, lightly time worn through careful use. Beech frame presents warm caramel hues and fine grain interest. Traditionally stuffed cushion and back rest offers a comfortable experience. Domed top framed with broad wing back shoulders. Panels host delicate foliate bouquets in a delightful colour palette. Press stud beading accentuates the apron line and outer wing edges. Profuse carving continuing upon the show frame and legs. Striking leaf and scrolled forms draw the eye throughout. Raised upon a quartet of canted cabriole legs with pad feet.
