Description

A smart and extremely well made antique mahogany leather top drum table. It is in the Regency style, this was made in England and dates from around the 1900-1920 period. The quality is superb and this is a useful size, perfect for use as an occasional side table or a coffee table. The mahogany has a gorgeous colour tone and patina, as does the tanned leather top. This stands on a tripod base, the top revolves on the base and has three drawers with brass ring pull handles. We have had this recently re-polished, the condition is excellent for its age.
