Description

Superb Victorian oak aneroid barometer by W Watson & Sons in excellent antique condition. This light oak banjo shaped frame with beautiful carved decoration houses a circular white dial barometer with brass bezel and bevelled glass. The thermometer above is held by two metal clips with white scale showing Fahrenheit & Centigrade set in a glazed oak box. Like all antiques there are some imperfections however nothing can diminish from the overall look of this striking item. This is a decorative barometer that will adorn any wall and couldn't get the weather any more wrong than today's weather reporters.
