Description

Superb large Minton Compote. With London Goldsmiths Coat of Arms. Circa 1820. Minton (1793-1893) in the Bamboo and Flower pattern but with the added coat of arms to the top, part of a corporate personalised service set. The popular Bamboo and Flowers pattern was introduced c. 1820. The pattern is found with no other mark than the Semi China printed mark that is probably the earliest formal printed mark used by Minton. In excellent condition with only minor frits (note chip to base). Retaining its full splendour of blue and white, in almost as new and original condition. With the coat of arms, this large (and heavy) compote would have formed a significant piece of the Service. I have an identical Meat Platter and Drainer from the same Service. A rare superb collectors item. Provenance: Flora Rabinovitch Collection. Condition: Excellent condition, chip to base rim, minor imperfections to be expected. Diameter = 29.5cm; Depth = 7cm. *Arms (see last colour photo): Quarterly gules and azure, in the first and fourth quarters a leopard's head affrontee Or, in the second and third a covered cup between in chief two buckles fessewise, all of the last. Crest: On a w...
