Description

A matching pair of copper cream or milk pails dating from the mid 19th Century. They are a traditional shape with brass rims and swing handles. They are excellent quality and have developed a lovely patina. We have only gently cleaned the copper to retain the patina but they could be polished further if desired. They are in good condition for their age. There are signs of age and use, some dents and dinks, surface marks and some old repairs but no major damages or anything detrimental and overall they display well. Approximate Measurements: Base Diameter : 12 1/2" (32cm) Height : 14" (36cm) The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
