Description

A fine quality late Victorian mahogany and gilt brass mounted quarter chiming bracket clock of small proportions, London made, retailed by John Bull & Co of Bedford c.1890. A high quality small sized triple fusee quarter chiming bracket clock of London manufacture dating from the last half of the 19th century in excellent original condition with the movement fully restored. The clock chimes Whittington on 8 graduated bells and also chimes Westminster on 4 curled blued steel gongs, chiming the hour on a further curled blued steel gong. The solid mahogany Georgian-style bell top case of excellent colour and patination, surmounted with a brass handle and brass ball finials to the corners, below chamfered and reeded case corners with gilt brass fluted inlay. Finely fretted scrolled and engraved silk lined sound frets to the case sides and above the brass bound shaped front door, beneath a stepped moulded and brass base with brass bun feet. The original locks and keys to the front and rear opening doors. The shallow arched brass dial with a finely executed matted dial centre, signed John Bull & Co Bedford on the silvered and engraved Roman chapter ring. All within fin...
