Description

A lovely oak floor standing corner cupboard dating from the late 18th / early 19th century. It has two panelled doors which open to a shelved interior with four nicely shaped shelves. It is a good quality piece with a mahogany banded border around the top and a small turned knob on the door. It also comes with a working key. It is in good condition with a lovely mellow patina. There are signs of age and use, some small knocks, minor marks and a couple of small losses but nothing detrimental or untoward. The interior is generally clean and tidy with a few minor old marks. There is some historic worm in the base and some in the backboards which has all been treated as a precaution. The cupboard has been cleaned and lightly polished and is ready for use. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask. Nationwide delivery available through our network of reliable couriers.
