Description

A fantastic regal hinged Victorian bangle believed to originate from Continental Europe, possibly Austro-Hungarian and dating from the 19th century. The bracelet is solid silver inlaid with rich royal blue enamel in a glorious repeating design on both halves with a monogram at the front and beautifully detailed engraving. The bracelet is in very good antique condition though there is some enamel loss if you look closely (see photos). The hinge and clasp are in good working order and the bracelet snaps shut with a satisfying click. Size: Internal circumference is approximately six and a half inches. Width: 1.4cm. Weight: 25.7g.
