Date of manufacture: 19th Century

Description

Hutton-Clarke Antiques is delighted to present a captivating artwork from the Regency period, circa 1810. This remarkable painting, executed in oil on canvas, retains its original frame and remains in excellent condition. The subject of the painting portrays a distinguished gentleman, possibly a surveyor, with a compass subtly placed in the background. The level of detail and skill in its execution is truly impressive, though intriguingly, it remains unsigned. Height 87 cm, width 71 cm, depth 5.5 cm

Internal Ref: 1140
