Description

A wonderful wall-hanging corner cupboard in dense native Welsh oak, with the reddish colour associated with the most superior furniture from Montgomeryshire. The cornice has a blind fretwork apron over a single door with an elaborate ogee-arched raised-and-fielded panel above a similar square panel, and the ends - very unusually - are also panelled. The interior has two elaborately shaped shelves. This is a truly superior example with a rich colour and good surface patination. Montgomeryshire, mid-Wales, circa 1740. For furniture with this kind of panelling see "Welsh Furniture 1250-1950: A Cultural History of Craftsmanship and Design", (Saer 2007) Height: 36.5 ins; 93 cms Width across front: 28 ins; 71 cms Depth from rear corner to front of cornice: 17.5 ins; 44 cms
