Description

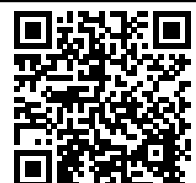

A good sized silver and glass hip flask from the Edwardian period. This handsome example is of shaped curved form, to sit snugly in the pocket. The glass body is encased in silver, with two viewing apertures to the sides to allow the level of the contents to be observed. The hinged lid is bayonet style with cork seal and the interior of the removable cup is richly gilded. Hip flasks are always in demand as they are practical and decorative items and a splendid gift idea. Dimensions below. Postage and packing £12.00 UK £20.00 Europe £26.00 Outside Europe Condition :- Excellent, with no splits, holes or dents. There are a couple of minor dimples to the base edges of the cup and two pin prick dimples to the lid, as seen in the photographs and commensurate with age and use. Hallmarks :- Clear and readable. Maker :- William Hutton & Sons Ltd. Date :- London 1902. Height :- 16.5 cms. Width :- 8 cms. Depth :- 3.3 cms.
