Description

A fabulous antique Victorian opal diamond cluster ring, adorned with a trilogy of natural opal cabochons along the centre (approx. 0.80ct), haloed by ten twinkling old mine cut diamonds (approx. 0.30ct). Opal is the birthstone of October. Their magic has been revered throughout history, desired for their enchanting rainbow of colours that flow and dance across the surface of the stone, evoking the natural beauty of planet Earth or the Aurora Borealis. This antique ring is crafted in 18ct gold with pierced sides and scrolled motifs on each shoulder. It dates to the late 19th Century and has remained in pristine condition. WEIGHT: 2.6 grams SIZE: N ½ (UK), 7 (US) – Our re-sizing service is free of charge.
