Description

A really great design for an extending dining table ,initially you have what seems like a side or Tea table with a folding top, then on further investigation the tea table becomes a large dining table with a set of extension leaves, to do this Metamorphosis simple swing out the back pair of legs and fold open the top then pull the two halves of the table apart "walla you now have a 275 cms long dining table add the leaves attach the brass clips to the edges of the leaves and sit down for Dinner, when finished either fold away again or leave as a beautiful dining table with all its 8 legs and lovely figured mahogany top fully on display, a work of brilliant engineering and it works perfectly,and the condition is excellent.will seat up to 10/12 diners .the extension leaves are original to the table and are separate so can be stored away when not in use Circa 1830 Dimensions Length fully extended 275 cms Fully closed 60 cms Width 113 cms Height 71 cms
