Description

DESCRIPTION: This is a very rare opportunity to purchase an outstanding fine example of a triple fusee Musical bracket clock which plays Westminster Chimes or on 8 bells. The clock is of massive grand proportions and stands 75 cm high making it an extremely impressive piece. The case incorporates some exquisite ormolu mounts which set the clock off stunningly. This is an exceptional clock not only in terms of the case but also with regards to the stunning movement. The gilding to the ormolu mounts is in lovely original condition. The ebonised case has a lovely arch top which is finished with five exceptionally detailed pineapple ormolu finials and to the front of the arched section is a further decorative ormolu mount. As you move down the door to access the dial is complete with its lock and key which is fully working. The key hole also has a lovely ormolu escutcheon. The door itself has the glass framed on a silvered mount and there are two ormolu spandrels to the corners above the arch of the glass. The door is then flanked by gilded Corinthian pillars. The dial is a work of art in its own right with exquisite spandrels to the corners and to the arch, the centre of ...
