Description

DESCRIPTION: This is a superb impressive and fine quality antique mahogany Regency Twin fusee bracket clock which has been profusely inlaid with brass. The clock is a wonderful design typical of the period and is signed with the makers name 'J. CONDLIFF LIVERPOOL'. The clock is superb having both a pull repeat and a STRIKE / SILENT facility. It has a lovely arched top finished with shaped moulding. The sides of the case have lovely shaped brass decorative fretted sound panels and handles above. Below the dial is profusely inlaid with brass as are the two front corners which sets the clock off beautifully. The dial is a white painted eight inch dish dial with the makers name 'J. CONDLIFF LIVERPOOL'. The clock is also fitted with a silent-strike lever at the top of the dial and a pull chord for the pull repeat facility. To the rear the door has a glass panel to the door which is complete with it's lock and is opened by a key. The pendulum is held in place by a travel nut when being moved. The movement is a five pillar twin fusee with pull repeat action and anchor escapement, and the pendulum is fitted with top adjustment above the bob. The clock strikes the hours on...
