Description

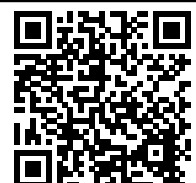

A very fine and intricate pattern on this late 19th century antique Bidjar rug. Woven with a classical Herati design in the deep blue main field and wonderful flowing border design in soft reds, with lovely greens and yellows. In very good order all over for a rug of this age. Gorgeous natural dyes and the pile height is excellent all over. Bidjar rugs are known as one of the toughest rugs, due to their construction of 4 weft threads, they are always very heavy too! The famous 'Herati' design is the pattern we see in the main field, which consists of two stylised leaves around a flower. In the 16th century this used to be two fish swimming around a water-lily. A great antique rug in wonderful condition, professionally washed and supplied with our sturdy anti-slip rug underlay. Visit our barn showroom soon to see this rug up close and over a 1000 more in our collection. We hold one of the largest collections of antique rugs and contemporary carpets in the UK. Our home visit service allows you to view any of our collection in situ on a day and time that suits you.
