Description

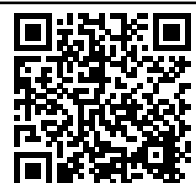

A well made early 18thc copper small lidded hot water / milk jug, with attractive turned fruitwood handle and button shape finial.... I really like the early hinge and the castellated seams....always a sign of quality and age....it was lidded as it would have been brought to the table, to top up the hot drinks and would have avoided any spills....in very good condition with no repairs. English. C1740-60.
