An extremely rare pair of silver candlesticks, in superb condition, dating from the 18th Century. These wonderful examples are of column design, with squared and stepped bases. There is attractive engraved decoration to the edges of each base and both candlesticks feature charming Armorial of a Stag. The columns are elegantly plain, rising to a section of fine panelling at the top. Both sconces are removable, hallmarked and finished with reeded borders. The Sheffield Assay Office opened in 1773, with these Candlesticks being hallmarked in 1793.
