SoldItem Reference: SA110988*Date of manufacture: 1900

Description

A wonderfully heavy piece of crystal was used to create this long box, beautifully decorated with an all-over hobnail cut, very tactile and lovely quality. The lid is made from English sterling silver and fits perfectly. The domed top has an plethora of repousse or embossed foliate decoration around a central vacant cartouche, perfect for engraving if desired. The silver is of course hallmarked for the highly sought-after Chester assay office and for the year 1906, a true Edwardian example. The makers initials are also present, G.N over R.H into a shield, for the silversmiths George Nathan & Ridley Hayes. Superb condition, the lid measuring 8 7/8" long x 1 3/4" in width.
