Description

Large English 19th Century Antique Oak Table This 19th century antique oak table stands so well, it is a very unusual design. Excellent quality throughout the construction, with four stylised legs that flute at the foot slightly, in a mildly Nouveau way, the four legs are then connected by four architectural, moulded arch stretchers. The beautiful antique oak table top is made from one solid piece of lovely oak timber which is octagonal in shape and has a well moulded edge with further mouldings under the edge. In superb, original condition and a fabulous colour. Perfect height for dining or desk work. Would work well as a centre table too. English and dating to around 1875. Dimensions Height: 76.5cm (30.36") Width: 153cm (60.71") Depth: 122cm (48.41")
