Description

This elegant console table dates back to around 1830 and features a smart French walnut design with a gorgeous grey marble top. The subtly rounded corners of the marble top add a touch of sophistication. The frieze of the table is uniquely designed with symmetrical book-matched veneers and includes a discreet hidden drawer for extra storage. The quality veneers extend to the sides, enhancing the overall beauty of the piece. The table is supported by the most elegant sabre legs at the front and straight rear stiles at the back. With an open plinth base and concave front and sides, this table stands on graduated turned front feet. While showing typical signs of ageing, such as a small chip on the rear left edge of the marble, the table is in very good condition, boasting an attractive patina and colour. It has been carefully cleaned and waxed to preserve its quality.
