Description

This rare pair of beautiful hand painted porcelain fruit plates were painted by the highly acclaimed Royal Worcester porcelain artist Richard Budd. They both have a still life painting of a mossy bank with fruit and foliage. One has peaches and blackberries and the other has peaches and grapes. They have both been very realistically painted in rich tones and signed by the artist. They are finished with a plain gilt rim. Back stamped bone China England hand painted by Richard Budd. Both are in excellent condition. Richard Budd started his own porcelain business and these rare examples are typical of what he produced. Circa 1930
