Description

This exquisite antique 18th-century bow-front chest of drawers is a rare and remarkable piece, showcasing exceptional Georgian craftsmanship. Constructed from fine mahogany, it features a stunning grain and rich colour that exudes timeless elegance. This chest is uniquely compact, with an unusual and desirable small size that sets it apart from more typical examples. It stands on refined splay feet and includes five drawers, thoughtfully arranged with two smaller drawers above three larger ones, providing practical storage while maintaining a graceful silhouette. The drawers are adorned with charming knob handles that enhance its classic aesthetic. A standout detail is the reeded frieze around the top, a subtle yet sophisticated decorative element that adds depth and character to the piece. The bow-front design further elevates its visual appeal, creating a soft curvature that is both elegant and functional. In great condition for its age, this chest of drawers is not only a functional storage solution but also a stunning statement piece. A rare find of exceptional quality, it would make an ideal addition to any Georgian-inspired interior or a collection of fine antiques.
