Description

This charming mid-19th-century English oil painting depicts a landscape with grazing cattle and a quaint wandering stream. Here, amid this gentle bucolic setting, the silence is broken only by the lilt of birdsong and the leisurely chewing of cud. It's nature in a restful mood, when gleaming sunlight is filtered through passing clouds - and rolling hills are ornamented with a patchwork of hedgerows. The composition and stylisation is somewhat reminiscent of similar views by Thomas Sidney Cooper (1803-1902). Perhaps the artist was a follower. Held within a gilt frame, which could be original. Medium: Oil on canvas Overall size: 22" x 16½" / 52cm x 42cm Year of creation: c. 1830 Condition: Cleaned. Canvas relined. Craquelure throughout. The paint layer is stable. Frame with various marks and showing its age. Our reference: BRV1948
