Description

A superb example of 19th-century furniture design, this stool is crafted from premium rosewood and features a beautifully balanced profile. It makes a beautiful statement piece for a dressing table, a bedroom window bay, or as a flexible additional seat in a principal drawing room. The stool is defined by its hand-carved detailing that flows elegantly down into the frame and supports, showcasing the deep artistry of classic period craftsmanship. The rich rosewood structure contrasts beautifully against the upholstered seat, creating a refined and timeless aesthetic. The piece is in good condition overall. It is ready for immediate use in the home. Dimensions: * Height: 46 cm * Width: 56cm * Depth: 41cm
