Description

A pair of hand painted ceramic tiles dating from the late 19th Century. One depicts a coastal scene and the other a bridge over a river in a more mountainous landscape. Neither are signed. They are both framed in nice quality black wooden frames which compliment the tiles. They are in very good condition for their age. There are no major damages and the colours are bright and vibrant. There is some slight crackle crazing to the glaze on the coastal scene but they still display very well. The frames are in good order. They have been lightly cleaned and are ready to hang. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask. Tracked UK Delivery £15
