Description

An early C.20th solid oak country refectory dining table. Constructed entirely in solid English oak. The oblong shaped top made from two planks of beautifully figured oak, in excess of two inches thick. Raised on lyre shaped trestles from matching oak, supported by a broad oak stretcher, with wedged joints. Extremely heavy for its size. Can be deconstructed for transport. Rare to find a small refectory table of this standard and quality. In very good condition, and ready for use. Dimensions: This table measures approximately 69 cm (27") tall, 158 cm (62.25") long, and 71.5 cm (28") wide. The underside clearance is approximately 63.5 cm (25") Condition: Please see the pictures for details of the items condition. - This table is in a very good and original condition, commensurate with its age, and is structurally very sound and sturdy. There are some odd minor marks and blemishes, in keeping with use. No loose joints. Well presented, with very good colour, patina and polish. Sensitively cleaned and waxed, and ready for use. - As with all vintage & antique furniture there will be signs of use, marks, wear & tear, etc.
