Description

Edwardian mahogany circular dining table This Edwardian mahogany circular dining table was made circa 1900. This design was made by Waring & Gillows although there is no stamp on the frame. It is a circular dining table that extends on a winding mechanism using the handle, the winding mechanism is the Joseph Fitter who patented the design. It stands on the 4 fine legs with the flutes to each corner and with the original castors. This dining table is very versatile, it allows you to use it closed to make a comfortable 6 seat or you may add its one or 2 leaves to allow you to seat more guests to suit your dining requirements. Imagine all the dinner parties that have been had at this lovely dining table in the 200 years since it has been made, and how many more you will be able to enjoy with your family and friends.
