Description

A wrought iron nip rushlight holder with domed metal base, dating from c1800. I always like the simplicity of these desirable little things - the small counterweight on the mobile side ensures that anything is held securely.

Rushlights were a more affordable option than candles so were commonly used in poorer dwellings and in servants areas. Condition: Good condition, wear and patina in accordance with age. Dimensions: Height - 21cm Diameter of base - 9.4cm Free UK delivery - the item will be sent using a tracked and signed for service.
