Description

Decorative Georgian Long Wooden Window Seat/Hall Bench - later painted • English Georgian Period circa 1810 • Solid Mahogany • Later Specialist Hand Painted Finish and Design Work • Faux Marble Finish to top • Specialist Distressed Mottled Antique White paint finish • Specialist Distressed Mottled Blue paint finish highlights • Vitruvian scroll design to apron • 1 inch thick seat with deep thumb moulded edge • Apron with decorative shape next to legs • Elegantly turned and tapering legs • H: 47cm (18.5") W: 138cm (54.3") D: 32cm (12.6") The solid top of the Hall Bench is over one inch in thickness and has been hand painted to give a Faux Marble finish with a feature thick coach line surrounding and above the thumb moulded edge. Below this is the apron which features the Neoclassical Vitruvian Scroll design, long used as an architectural feature and on furniture. The legs are elegantly turned and taper to give pleasing proportions. The base colour used is a Distressed Mottled Antique White and the veining to the marble, the coach lines, Vitruvian Scroll and feature lines are in Distressed Mottled Powdery Blue. By their very nature the designs have to be made using g...
