Description

Large early C19th George IV period 60" diameter rosewood dining or centre table . The highly figured 'book-matched' rosewood veneered top with an unusual reeded moulded edge with carved 'reel' details at the quarters of the circumference and having a shallow frieze surround below . Raised on a central circular tapering column pillar support with carved acanthus leaf detail collar and a leaf-carved ring . The triform concave-sided base with carved moulded detail to all the edges and raised on carved scroll classically-inspired design feet with concealed brass castors beneath. The underside of the top fitted with the original large gilded brass sprung pull-handle and gilt-brass screw-in bolts to the block , allowing the table to be tilted when required. The figured rosewood top of good mellow colour and patina, with some minor historic water-stain spots and marks , the centre with a slightly darker shade to the polish where perhaps a vase or centrepiece previously stood. The top being completely flat and true. No damage, losses or repairs. An impressively-scaled table of broad diameter and practical height and design, which would accommodate 8 diners comfortably, t...
