Description

A pair of 19th century chinese silver plated vases of small proportions and stand upon hardwood bases. The vases are of excellent quality and have floral handles with engraved scenic decoration to the bodies of the vases. The bases are fixed via thread and nut, however there is some ware to the threads so they don't tighten up as they should. There are a few small dents in place to the vases, but this doesn't deter from this decorative appearance, overall they are in pretty good condition for their age.
