Description

This Art Deco Bakelite telephone is a stunning piece from 1940. Made of high-quality Bakelite material, this original piece has been adapted to work when plugged in to a BT socket. With its unique design and antique charm, it is perfect for collectors or anyone looking to add a touch of vintage style to their home or office. The phone is made in the United Kingdom and is an original, not a reproduction. The condition of this piece is evident in its exterior and clear, beautiful sound quality. This telephone is a true gem and a testament to the quality craftsmanship of the era.
