Description

Antique GEORGIAN Inlaid Mahogany Apothecary Box Chest Cabinet with Bottles etc DESCRIPTION: Here we have a wonderful antique GEORGIAN mahogany apothecary's chest / cabinet which has been beautifully inlaid to the top, front and rear with herringbone banding. The top has a nicely moulded edge which opens to reveal four bottles. Below is a cupboard and when the door is opened this reveals six compartments over seven various drawers which all have lids when pulled out one of the drawers containing a glass pestle and mortar whilst others contain mixing bowls. To the rear is another door, which can be access by first lifting the lid (which releases the lock) and then unhooking the door. This reveals eight compartments containing bottles. DIMENSIONS: The approximate MAXIMUM dimensions are: 10 1/4 inches / 26 cm wide x 8 3/4 inches / 22 cm deep x 11 3/4 inches / 30 cm high. CONDITION: The chest is in lovely condition as can be seen from the photographs especially considering this is over 220 years old and has been a working item, just minor knocks / marks, and a couple of stains commensurate with age and use and which can be viewed in the photographs.
