Description

This is a very characterful antique Karabagh rug from South Caucasus, dating from around 1900. The carpet has a pleasing colour palette with warm red, deep madder red, sage green, ivory and charcoal all featuring. The design is very typical with a bold geometric rectangular linked lozenges in a row, with stylised plants and parasol borders. Ready for immediate use, this is in very good condition bearing in mind it's age with both ends and selvages complete and a nice even pile. It measures 327cms by 125cms UK delivery is included.
