Description

This Rustic Olive Jar has surface detail to admire, in abundance. Being of a good size and form, this Jar could be put to so many uses or indeed be just admired as a vessel in its own right. The exterior is wonderfully weathered with good patination and shows the remnants of the green glaze further adding decorative value. One thing to note is a small historical repair to the rim that is shown in the photos, but only really noticeable on close inspection, but adding further charm to the piece as it displays its history of use.
