Description

Antique Donath & Co. Dresden porcelain cache pots This rare pair of antique hand-painted porcelain cache pots, crafted by Donath & Co. in Dresden, Germany, at the end of the 19th century, features complementary designs in turquoise blue and yellow. Both pieces are adorned with delicate floral motifs, intricate gilding patterns, and panels depicting charming courtship scenes in pastoral settings. The cache pots are further enhanced by elegant crossed rope-style handles. The bases bear the underglaze blue crown and Dresden marks. Historical background: Donath & Co. (1872–1916) specialised in decorating porcelain in the styles of Meissen and Vienna, often using blanks from Meissen, Thomas Co., and Limoges. Known for their vibrant designs and exceptional quality, Donath & Co. gained international acclaim, earning medals at exhibitions in Brussels, Barcelona, and Chicago. Their pieces were highly sought after, with dessert sets and tea wares featured in Harrods catalogues and exported widely to Canada and the United States. Today, their porcelain remains highly collectible and is prized for its artistic quality. Dimensions: Height 10 cm Width 13 cm Depth 10.5 cm Total weight...
