

SA1119431

George III Sheraton 18th-century mahogany tripod table

Price

GBP 650

| USD $880 | EUR 761

Item Reference: SA1119431

Date of manufacture: 1800

Dimensions

Height = 85 cm (33.5")

Width = 73 cm (28.7")

Description

Sheraton 18th century mahogany tripod Table This George III Sheraton 18th-century mahogany tripod table is an exceptional example of Georgian furniture and a fine piece of antique English furniture. Crafted with exquisite attention to detail, this Sheraton-style tilt-top table features a combination of mahogany and satinwood inlay, highlighting the craftsmanship that was characteristic of the 18th-century period. With its elegant design and quality materials, this table is not just a functional piece of furniture but also a timeless investment for antique furniture collectors and interior decorators alike. Key Features: Authentic 18th-Century Sheraton Design This Sheraton tripod table is a classic representation of George III furniture design, showcasing the refinement and elegance of the late 18th century. The table's tilt-top feature allows for versatility, making it a practical yet stylish addition to any period-inspired interior. Satinwood Inlaid Border and Carved Details The circular top of the table is beautifully inlaid with satinwood, offering a striking contrast against the rich tones of the mahogany. The satinwood inlaid border not only adds a touch of luxury ...

Seller Details

Antiques Decorative (Sussex)

East Sussex United Kingdom By appointment only.

Tel: 07565 761917

International Tel: +44 7565 761917