Description

An unusual and attractive set of 19th century brass and mahogany hanging shelves. Spiral moulded brass supports to the front with ball finials to the top and buns to the base. The rear supports are of solid triangular section brass with spade shaped fixing mouldings to the top and bottom. The mahogany shelves have reeded fronts and are of serpentine shape. The painted finish is later, probably carried out in the Edwardian period. The shelves are robust and are of a simplistic and pleasing design perfect for today's interior tastes. 76 cm wide max17-14 cm deep (serpentine shape). Distance between top and bottom shelf is 47cm Height of the brass rear supports 79 cm Width between the rear supports 48 cm Vertical distance between the lower to middle shelf is 23 cm and from the middle to top shelf is 20 cm UK mainland delivery £20 Overseas buyers please contact us for shipping costs.
