Description

An impressive Edwardian mahogany Scotch chest of imposing grand proportions, with four long drawers below a large cushion drawer, all flanked by magnificent barley twist columns and raised on turned feet. Original mother of pearl inlaid turned handles adorn the wonderfully figured drawer fronts, with the bottom drawer being particularly deep. Very good condition, beautifully restored and ready to place in the home. Structurally all sound with some age related surface wear and some historic veneer repairs. Scottish, circa 1910.
