Description

A fine William IV Irish Mahogany work table, the square top with flamed veneer and canted corners and with a border carved with stiff leaves over a tapering body fitted with two graduated drawers each with a circular mother of pearl lock escutcheon and cockbeaded edge, and with canted corners with applied carved floral motifs, raised on a crisply carved baluster with stiffly carved leaves over a carved floral base, mounted onto a quadruped pedestal with well figured veneers on carved hairy paw feet, Irish circa 1830. Supplied with keys. Condition: Overall very good, the table is in excellent condition with no damage or breaks, it stands well with no wobbling and the drawers run smoothly, the veneers are well chosen with fine figuring and character, the carving is crisp and in excellent condition, and overall the table has a strong appearance with wonderful colour and fine patination.
