Description

Intact pairs of antique Persian rugs are difficult to find. But a pair of Heriz rugs is almost unheard of. These charming rugs have an identical design, but the colours are slightly different. Nevertheless, they work very well together. Both have lovely soft wool and colours, and a very restrained design. Indeed they are a highly desirable item which would work well in any number of scenarios, including bedrooms and living areas. Cherished through the generations, they have survived in excellent condition. Professionally cleaned. Each measures 1.78m x 0.97m. They are available individually for £1300 each or together for £2500.
