Description

1937 George VI Coronation Year Quintuple Proof Sovereign, London Mint Graded by NGC as PF63 CAMEO Alloy 22 Carat Gold Weight 39.90 g Diameter 38.60mm Quality Proof Year 1937 PROVENANCE UK PRIVATE COLLECTION This 1937 George VI Gold Proof Quintuple Gold Sovereign Coin NGC PF 63 CAMEO features the iconic St George and the Dragon reverse by Benedetto Pistrucci. The obverse features Thomas Humphry Paget's Portrait of King George VI. This gold proof coin has been graded by the Numismatic Guaranty Company (NGC) as PF 63. This coin has also received the CAMEO grade. This means that the fields of the coin are deeply mirrored along with highly frosted design meaning that there is a higher degree of contrast between the two finished. It is rarer to have the cameo designation on these coins. The 1937 Quintuple Sovereigns were only issued as part of the four-coin gold George VI Coronation proof set. It is thought that most of the sets have since been broken up by collectors and sold individually. Out of the four-coin set the Quintuple Sovereign and Sovereign are the most sought after by collectors. Only 5,001 of these sets were minted, resulting in them being very desirable. ...
